It is reported in London that there is no longer any doubt that the monster oil interests of Rockefeller, Rothschild and Nobel have entered a working agreement. This, it is said, is the greatest trust ever known. It is thought that this combination gave rise to Russia's proposed anti-trust conference.

The Pikeville Independent, published by E. S. Ferguson, made its appearance last Thursday, and as the first number, should be entirely satisfactory to the people of the prosperous little city at the head of Big Sandy Navigation. Pike is the richest county in natural wealth, as well as the largest county, in the State, and it should liberally support a good newspaper. The Independent bids fair to meet the demands of the county for a representative organ. It is non-partisan in politics, neatly printed, and full of news.

The O. R. and C.'s History.

The Ohio River and Charleston road of the South and Western system, absorbed, according to dispatches from Baltimore, by the Seaboard Air Line, extends from Johnson City, Tenn., to Honolulu, N. C., a distance of thirty-four miles. It was originally the Tennessee section of the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago project. The Carolina portion of this three-C road was built from Camden, S. C., to Marion, N. C., 171 miles, and is now known as the South Carolina and Georgia extension, and is controlled by the Southern Railway. The O. R. and C. was recently sold by Samuel Hunt's company to the South and Western, of which George L. Carter is the man who organized the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company and the Virginia and Southwestern Railway Company. It is understood that the plan is to extend the O. R. and C. from Huntington to Lincoln, a distance of 150 miles, and connect with the S. A. L. at Lincoln. From Johnson City it is proposed to extend the road up into the Virginia coal fields a distance of about 100 miles.—Courier Journal.

Is Not a Candidate.

[The following card was expected to be published last week, but the order was received too late for that issue.—Ed.]

Editor Big Sandy News:
My friends without my approval, announced through your paper that I was a candidate for Congress. I had nothing to do with the announcement. Some people have objected to my announcement through your paper. If I had had anything to do with the announcement, I would have overruled the objection. Your paper, even if it is Democratic, reaches my friends. I believe in the doctrine of the Republican party, for it keeps our mines of coal and woods of timber open to the world. I believe that the mountain people of Kentucky are the best people on earth; and I have no sympathy with the Ill-grass Aristocracy that try to control our section. This district can be redeemed from the Democratic party by nominating Wm. H. Cox, of Maysville, and I am too good a Republican to stand out against the success of my party. If Mr. Cox is nominated, he will attend to securing an appropriation for Big Sandy river. If my friends should decide that I am the candidate, I would fly the flag on every hill-top; but I am for Cox.
Very Respectfully,
Rowland C. BERRY,
Cattlettsburg, Ky., July 21, 1902.

The aim and purpose of the Kentucky Children's Home Society is to locate destitute, neglected and ill-treated children, receive them into legal guardianship, place them in the homes of approved families, and keep them under observation until maturity. Destitute children throughout the State, physically and mentally sound, not incorrigible, and under twelve years of age are entitled to its good offices.

The work is carried on by the State Superintendent and his assistants, who alone receive compensation, under the supervision of the State Board of Managers, with the assistance of the Local Advisory Boards that have been organized in the various cities and counties of the State.

These Local Advisory Boards, composed of representative and charitable-minded citizens in their respective communities, compare with the State Board. They report children that are found to be in need of homes; ascertain what families are willing to take children; submit applications from such families for children; keep children that have been placed by the Society in their locality under observation, promptly notifying it of any abuse or neglect of such children; receive and forward to the State all donations and funds they are able to obtain; secure new members; contribute literature; make the objects and work of the Society known, and in all other practicable ways promote its work.

PIKEVILLE

Having recently returned from Floyd county we clearly understand the "Whoo Sweet Beaver" expression of "Whoo Sweet Beaver"! Say, Mr. Editor, everything and everybody in all the Beaver country seems to have a tea cent move on them, for all is a bustle of excitement over the production of the superior quality of all found. They have sixty wells now drilled, and are still drilling, the most productive sections being on the Jones Fork, and on French creek and near Turkey and Goose creeks. This is now being pumped to Whitesburg by means of a pipe line—a distance of forty miles—of course they say "Sweet Beaver". Then we find the Beaver country in corn, this side of the Egyptian country in the days of Jacob of old; but wheat and grass have failed; oats are abundant, both hogs and cattle have become scarce articles as well as service.

In and around Prestonsburg the railroad movements are stimulating the citizens to action. There no longer remains any doubt that the road will be built as rights of way have been secured almost entirely through the county, and our good friend, the Hon. Walter Watkins, tells us that a site has been secured just across the river near Albion for the depot, and the place is quite satisfactory, hence an era of good feeling is now prevailing in that country. We find many moving figures up there, who are striving to do all they possibly can in these public enterprises; the genial county clerk, Mr. Malaga Hall, Mr. Ford, the landlord, Mr. Harkles, Mr. May, but none more enterprising than the Hon. E. A. Hopkins, who has just been nominated for Congress. We had him deeply interested in the building of the Big Sandy river—a thing much needed by the people for marketing their material. They are a genial people and deserve all that can be secured for them.

We visited the spot where the famous Middle creek battle took place during the civil war of secession, and stood upon the sacred spot where the immortal Garfield stood during the waning of the battle, and viewed with intense interest the country surrounding that memorable place.

RAILROAD TALK.

A special train from Baltimore has the following in regard to the reported extension of the Seaboard Air Line to Catlettsburg, Ashland and Ironton:
"It is announced here that the Seaboard Air Line has bought the South & Western Railroad. The latter is a new company under which two or more roads will be consolidated.

"It owns the Ohio River & Charleston Railway, which it is proposed to extend from the coal fields of southwestern Virginia to Lincoln, N. C., where, according to the plans, connection is to be made with the Seaboard Air Line. The scheme for this development was financed by the Union Trust Company, of this city.

"The promoters of the scheme announce that the route planned will be the shortest line from the Virginia coal fields to the Atlantic Coast and the South.

"The proposed road will be about 275 miles in length, but it is thought that the mileage will be increased by its extension in a northerly direction. Connection may be made with the Detroit Southern at Ironton, O.

"The Ohio River & Charleston Road extends from Johnson City, Tenn., to Hunt Dale, a distance of 31 miles. It was originally the Tennessee section of the Charleston, Chelan and Chicago project. The Carolina portion of this three C road was built from Camden, S. C., to Marion, N. C., 171 miles, and is now owned by the Southern Railway.

"The Ohio River & Charleston
was recently sold by Samuel Hunt to the South & Western, which George L. Carter, of Virginia, who organized the Virginia & Northwestern Railway Company, is President."

When a man and his wife fail to agree, the wisest thing to do is to drop the matter entirely.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Instant Death To One, A Close Call for Another.

The life of Alonzo Searberry was ended in an instant Tuesday by a flash of lightning which struck a tree under which he and a companion, Ferrett Castle, had taken shelter from the storm. The latter was so severely shocked that he was not rational for several hours. Each of the young men was about 18 years of age.

The affair occurred on top of Hawley Hill, near Charley, this county, one of the highest mountains in that neighborhood. The young men had been to a store at Charley and were returning home.
They hitched their horses by the roadside when overtaken by the storm, and took shelter under a chestnut oak tree a short distance away. Searberry was sitting against the tree, but Castle was a few feet away when the fatal flash struck the tree. The dead man's hair was turned off and his breast and one arm blistered. Castle was sharply injured. He wandered down the hill in a dazed condition and was found by some one. He finally said he had become sick on top of the hill and left his horse there. Searberry's body was found soon afterward.

Those young men are sons of Mat Searberry and Al. Castle.

ALBERT FULKERSON DEAD.

Albert Fulkerson died Monday morning in Colorado, of consumption.
He had been in poor health for two or three years, and most of this time was spent at health resorts in hope of recovery.

His home was at Paola, Kansas, but he requested that his body be interred at Catlettsburg, and the request will, it is said, be complied with.

He was between 55 and 60 years of age, a man of fine physique, genial and popular. He leaves one son and two daughters. His wife also survives him. She was Miss Nannie Smith, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Smith, of Catlettsburg, seven miles below Louisa.

Mr. Fulkerson was a prominent lawyer and successful business man. His death has brought sorrow to all who knew him.

ago, and have been living at Pollard since. Last Monday evening a woman claiming to be another wife of Litteral's appeared upon the scene and raised a disturbance that shocked the village from corner to corner.

She went to Ashland and procured a warrant for Litteral and he skipped to Ohio.

One of the oldest men perhaps in the State is Mr. Dave Wade, who resides just at the edge of this county. Should he live to the 21st of next Aug. he will be 115 years of age. He was born in North Carolina but has spent most of his years in this state. He was the first man who lighted and operated a charcoal furnace in Greenup county. Even at his extreme age he can walk several miles at a stretch, and is often seen at work in his garden; he has always been a hard worker.—Ashland Daily Independent.

"Squire A. T. Wilbur, who has lived at Hunter, W. Va., for two years, has moved back to the Peach Orchard, and occupies property purchased of Mrs. Lydia Rutter.
His son Leo, age 17, is just recovering from the effects of an accident that came near resulting fatally.
It occurred on June 10th, in the mines at Hunter. He and Frank Queen were making a cart ridge to shoot down the coal. They set a keg of powder down on a "live" electric wire and the powder exploded. The two men were horribly burned and Queen died from the injuries 12 days later. He was a married man and his home was at Kilgore, Ky. Wilbur's life was probably saved by the fact that he had on heavy woolen clothing, which would not burn readily.
The wire that caused the trouble was supposed to be insulated, but the covering was defective.

HON. F. A. HOPKINS

Wins the Democratic Nomination in the Tenth District.

West Liberty, Ky., July 21.— F. A. Hopkins, of Prestonsburg, Floyd county, was nominated for Congress this afternoon in one of the most harmonious conventions ever held in the Tenth district.

J. B. White, the present Congressman, withdrew before the balloting was begun and Mr. Hopkins was left master of the situation.

Judge Amos Davis, of Morgan county, showed up well on the first and second ballots, but on the third the votes of Pike and Lee counties, which had been for L. H.
Lawson, of Pike, and the votes of the Montgomery and Powell, which had been divided, were thrown to Mr. Hopkins, and he had votes to spare.

Mr. Allen W. Young, chairman of the State Central Committee, declined to be the temporary chairman, although he was agreed upon by the candidates, and F. E. Fogg, of Mt. Sterling, was chosen.

The contesting delegation of Magoffin county was induced early this morning not to make a fight, which left nothing for the Committee on Credentials to determine.
The convention was called to order in the courthouse, but no more than half the delegates could get in the room and they adjourned to the yard, where they were compelled to stand during the proceedings. This had the effect of bringing the convention to a speedy close and only one session was held.

The nominee was born in 1853 at Jeffersonville, Va., and located in Prestonsburg, Ky., in 1874. He studied law and represented Floyd, Knott and Letcher counties in the Constitutional convention in 1890.
The normal Democratic majority in these counties was 500, but Mr.
Hopkins got a majority of 1,402.

He was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress two years ago and was defeated by Mr.
White by only a fraction of a vote.
The convention was called to order at 1 o'clock by D. W. Gardner, chairman of the Congressional committee.
F. E. Fogg, of Mt. Sterling, and C. B. Hill, secretary of State, were placed in nomination for temporary chairman. Mr. Fogg was elected by a vote of 62 to 37.
John Gardner, of Magoffin county, and Richard Holland, of Wolfe county, were placed in nomination for temporary secretary. Mr.
Gardner won by a vote of 62 to 37.
E. L. Noble, of Breathitt county, secretary.
